

2023 Music Access Miami Grant Partners

Alliance for Musical Arts Productions

To support programs that provide high-quality musical experiences to youth, and additionally fosters their understanding and appreciation of the visual and performing arts by providing access to exhibitions, performances and educational programs.

Brazilian Voices

To support the Arts and Healing Program offered at schools and hospitals across Miami-Dade County that reaches cancer patients and survivors, special needs and underserved youth, as well as seniors receiving in-home care.

Community Arts and Culture

To support programming for youth that allows for the appreciation and understanding of other cultures by presenting the arts as a tool for education through music-based workshops, lectures, and performances, and exemplifying the diversity of our South Florida community.

Context of A Generation

To support capacity building and operations for the Generation Defined program that empowers middle school students through lessons in Art Expression, Cultural Heritage, and Environmental Studies in Goulds, Richmond Heights, and Overtown.

El Ingenio Teatro

To support scholarships for fifty students ages eight to thirteen to attend the Innovative Musical Theater Camp where students will discover how to improve their artistic skills through different musical disciplines at Centro Mater Community Center in Little Havana.

Friends of South Florida Music

To support the Music FUNdamentals program, a multi-week course that provides music education, enrichment, and developmental activities free of charge, in under-resourced communities of South Florida for children of all ages and abilities.

Miami Girls Rock Camp

To support the Miami Girls Rock Camp Youth Open Mic, a series of six bi-monthly events, that promotes self-esteem, community, and creative expression for girls and non-binary youth in Miami.

Mind&Melody

To support music programs for seniors living with neurological impairments, like dementia and Alzheimer's at long-term care centers, community centers, at home, and online through Zoom.

Pinecrest City Music Project

To support free, high-quality programming and public access initiatives that provide students with the musical knowledge to thrive through group-based instruction and hands-on learning initiatives while instilling core values of the arts and its positive influence on local communities.

South Florida Chamber Ensemble

To support music education programs for elementary school aged children that includes creating and performing on musical instruments made from recycled materials, using math and English skills to learn to compose music, improvisation, and learning to sing and play music from around the world.

The Greater Goulds Optimist Club

To support the Community Summer Band Camp that provides affordable music education and cultural programs to economically disadvantaged families in Goulds and the surrounding areas.
